

Does your next building project need solar control?

horisoTM
by Nysan Asia Pacific

Horiso External Venetian Blinds are one of the most versatile and effective methods of solar control in buildings. They maximise natural daylight while reducing glare, thermal gain and energy consumption.

They have been engineered to withstand harsh weather conditions and are available in a range of sizes, finishes and colours to suit your design specifications.

Visit www.horiso.com for more information.